Additional Services

Selected Golf Clubs

Le Kempferhof Golf et Château-Hôtel

Set amid the picturesque landscape of Alsace, Le Kempferhof Golf Course unfolds across pristine natural surroundings. Opened in 1990 and designed by the renowned American golf architect Robert von Hagge, the 18-hole course is gracefully embedded among centuries-old oaks, beeches and poplars. Immaculately maintained fairways, 13 strategically placed water hazards, generously contoured greens and impressive bunkers create a varied and rewarding round. Time and again, magnificent views open up to the elegant clubhouse—once an 18th-century hunting lodge—and to the Château-Hôtel, built in 1865 and inspired by Gaudí through its architect Jean de Dartein. Thanks to clearly visible hazards, the course remains highly enjoyable and accessible, even for less experienced golfers.

Golf Club St. Leon-Rot

Located near Heidelberg, the Golf Club St. Leon-Rot, opened in 1997, ranks among Germany's most prestigious golf destinations. The club is a member of the Leading Golf Courses of Germany and has been an official European Tour Destination since 2012. The St. Leon Course, designed by English architect Dave Thomas, follows the style of a classic links course and recalls Scottish and Irish golf landscapes with its natural shaping and distinctive water features. The Rot Course, created by architect Hannes Schreiner, preserves large sections of the original river floodplain and combines a striking natural setting with demanding, well-balanced holes. Among the club's celebrated signature holes are the island green on the Rot Course and the island fairway on St. Leon—both leaving a lasting impression on every round.

Jakobsberg Golf Resort

The Jakobsberg Golf Resort is set on a high plateau in the heart of the UNESCO-listed Upper Middle Rhine Valley, between Koblenz and Mainz, surrounded by one of Germany's most impressive cultural landscapes. Designed in 1994 by Wolfgang Jarsombek, inspired by the legendary American architect Robert Trent Jones Jr., the 18-hole course offers breathtaking views over the Rhine Valley, the surrounding vineyards and the distant hills of the Westerwald, Hunsrück and Taunus. Strongly contoured fairways, generous bunkering, numerous water hazards and fast, undulating greens provide a sporting yet fair challenge. Signature holes include the par-3 13th, overlooking the largest bend of the Rhine, and the 16th, offering equally spectacular river views.

Golf & Country Club Gut Velderhof

Set quietly within a protected floodplain landscape framed by expansive woodlands, Golf Club Velderhof offers varied challenges for golfers of all skill levels. The championship course, designed by Dieter R. Sziedat, follows the ancient lines once carved into the land by the Rhine itself. Fast greens, wide fairways, strategically placed bunkers and engaging water hazards—bordered by picturesque streams and biotopes—combine to create a harmonious and rewarding golfing experience in natural surroundings.
